B'nai Israel Plight to Be Reconsidered

The County Board of Supervisors agreed yesterday to reconsider the plight of Congregation B'nai Israel in Daly City.

The board asked District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson to report Tuesday whether it would be legally possible for the board, having once denied a use permit for a new synagogue, to reopen the matter at this time.

The board acted after hearing appeals from City Attorney Paul Hupf of Daly City and Attorney Sidney Berlin, representing the congregation. A delegation of Daly City ministers was also present to support the request.

The congregation's synagogue on Knowles Avenue has been bought by the city to make way for work in connection with the Knowles Avenue arterial project.

Relying on the action of the County Planning Commission in granting a use permit, the group bought land for a new building on Annie Street, just outside the city limits.

Then the action of the commission was appealed and the Board of Supervisors denied the permit on the basis that the land area was too small.

Board Chairman James V. Fitzgerald expressed the opinion yesterday that the permit should be reconsidered because the congregation has come up with new plans.

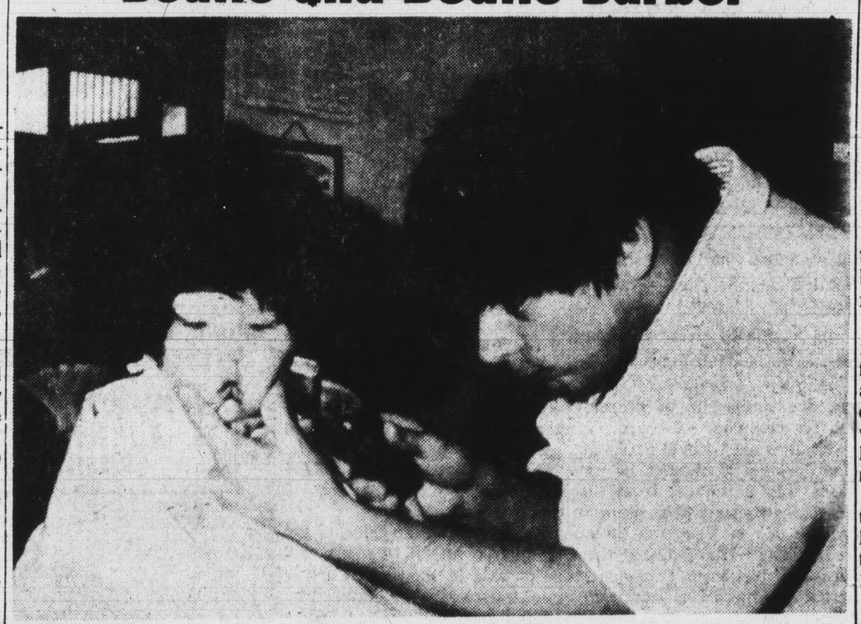
Beach Parking Fee Scheduled

Free parking at Thornton Beach will become a luxury of the past beginning March 1.

That's the day the State Division of Parks and Beaches will begin charging 50 cents a day for each auto.

The fee is in line with a division policy of charging parking fees at state operated beaches and parks.

Beatle and Beatle Barber



THE BEATLE mania hit the North County last week in strength. Here in the Skyline Plaza Barber Shop in Daly City, barber Jack Green wears a Beatle wig as he goes through the motions of giving a haircut to 19-month-old John Booth who was right in the spirit of things with a wig of his own. John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Booth of 82 Clearview Drive, Daly City. For another picture on the Beatle mania, please see Page 3.

Democrats Silent On Postal Choice

A fierce squabble over who will be the next Pacifica postmaster was halted abruptly last week after a closed executive session of a County Democratic Central Committee.

Although a decision was apparently reached and harmony restored among party members, "no comment" was the only response from chairman Adolph (Bud) Harrison and other committee members on what went on at the meeting.

Two top Pacifica Democrats, Ken Strom of 867 Standish Road, an ornamental metal worker, and Donald Brewer of 831 Standish Road, a retail merchant, had sought the committee's indorsement for a political appointment as postmaster.

The job becomes vacant at the end of this month when William Wolf, Pacifica's postmaster for the past eleven years, retires.

Prior to the meeting, Brewer announced that he was withdrawing from the race in the interests of party harmony in favor of a third candidate — assistant postmaster John Simmons.

Brewer said that 15 of the 25 members of the central com-

JUHS Casts Dour Look at Laguna Plan

By LOUANNE HEATH

The Jefferson Union High School District Board of Trustees Monday night approved a letter containing a carefully worded but negative appraisal of the latest unification proposal to be forwarded to them.

The proposal, submitted two weeks ago by the Laguna Salada Union School District, advocated two unified districts within the boundaries of (1) the Jefferson, Bayshore and Brisbane Elementary districts and (2) Laguna Salada Union School district.

According to the plan, Bay-

D. C. COUNCIL HEARING

High Apartments Draw Objections

By RON BATES

A controversial rezoning that could open the door to construction of two tower apartments was protested by a group of angry residents at a public hearing before the Daly City Council Monday night.

The residents voiced their objection to a request from developer E. T. Komsthoeft for a zone change from commercial, unclassified and single family to apartments on property southeast of Brunswick Street between Hillside Boulevard and Wellington Avenue.

Charles Garry of 482 Wellington Street said he was told that Komsthoeft planned to build tower apartments that would be 16 to 18 stories in height.

He charged that the developer's plans were "woefully inadequate" and said residents were firmly against the rezoning for a number of reasons—including consideration of aesthetics, water supply, transportation and school enrollment.

City Engineer William Chapman confirmed the developer's plans for tower structures but said the buildings were of "an undetermined height."

Under present ordinances, a height limitation of 36 feet or three stories is in force, he said.

If Komsthoeft plans to exceed that limit, he first has to obtain a variance from both the planning commission and the city council, Chapman explained.

In a proposed new ordinance under consideration by the council, a special zoning, called R-4, will govern tower buildings.

E. E. Moses of 144 East Vista Avenue expressed concern that construction of the multi-story buildings might weaken the walls of the reservoir at the top of the hill.

"Once that reservoir cracks,

Residents of Trailers May Borrow Books

It's official now. No longer are Daly City residents living in trailers "citizens without a city" as far as library privileges are concerned.

The Daly City Library Commission last week approved a resolution giving privileges to any resident or person employed in the city — including persons living in trailers.

According to City Librarian Sam Chandler, the resolution is a departure from previous pol-

Let's Go to the Fair

DALY CITY residents will have the opportunity to observe the Jefferson Elementary School District in action at a "Curriculum Fair" Saturday at Thomas Edison School from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The Curriculum Fair will display a representative sampling of the district's educational program at a central location.

Teachers and principals will work with their children to demonstrate a variety of teaching techniques in all grades from kindergarten through eighth grade.

Parents will be able to observe the teachers in their class programs.

IN ADDITION to the demonstrations, the district also will have a display of teaching materials and district services in the Thomas Edison multi-use room.

The display booths will be manned by consultants and teachers for the convenience of visiting parents.

A general meeting in the multi-use room will begin the fair at 9:30 a.m. The meeting will run until 9:50 a.m. when a series of demonstrations begins.

Teachers, subjects and rooms during the first series of demonstrations from 10 a.m. to 10:40 are:

shore and Brisbane could, if they preferred, undertake annexation to the South San Francisco Unified District as their boundaries would be adaptable to either area.

The Laguna Salada plan objected to other unification plans on four accounts: that they would create an overly large district, that financing such a district would work an unfair advantage on some of the existing districts, that the excellent education programs under way in various areas would be disrupted and, that such a large district would tend to destroy identification of the public with the whole school district and thus cause poor understanding and lack of communication.

In outlining the Jefferson High School District's reasons for disapproving the Laguna Salada plan, Superintendent Edward D. Morgan noted that while educational experiences for youngsters in Laguna Salada were of a very high level, the district's finances left a good deal to be desired.

Additional state aid, the board's letter of reply pointed out, would appear to be out of the question.

In rebuttal to other points in the Laguna Salada proposal, the letter cited numerous examples of large districts, including San Francisco, Sacramento, San Diego, and San Juan, that do not appear to suffer from any of the blight the Laguna Salada report seemed to imply was part and parcel of "overly large districts."

Board O.K.'s Privileges

icies that left the area of library privileges "vague."

A number of trailer residents appeared at a commission meeting three months ago to ask for library privileges.

The commissioners were presented with a copy of a set of by-laws drafted by City Attorney Paul Hupf. The by-laws spell out such things as the relationship of the City Council and city staff and the City Council and the commission.

The commission will study the by-laws and take action on them at its March meeting.

In other action, the commissioners:

Approved the hiring of two full-time library assistants.

Heard a report from Chandler that planners were being hired to study methods of taking advantage of state aid made available by last year's legislature.

Heard a report that a record 28,340 books were checked out during the month of January. This compares with a total of 25,814 in January last year.

Non-budgeted Aide Sparks Pay Requests

The hiring of a non-budgeted recreation department employee this winter has sparked a raft of requests for more money from other city departments, Pacific City Council will be told tonight.

In a memorandum to City Council, members of the Personnel Advisory Board say they have received requests for 5 per cent pay increases from police sergeants, inspectors, and fire captains. Two foremen in the public works department and the city's building inspectors.

After spending two meetings studying the requests, the board voted to deny them — stating they should only be submitted at regular budget time.

The police sergeants and other employees have asked for an increase in their $685 monthly salaries to bring them up to the North County average for such city positions of $715.

Also on Pacifica City Council agenda for tonight is a recommendation from the Planning Commission that lighted house numbers, clearly visible from the street, be required on all homes.

Feyge Named To Transport Study Group

Pacifica's Mayor Harold Feyge has been appointed to two major Bay Area committees, it was announced this week.

Feyge will represent all the cities of San Mateo County on the nine-county San Francisco Bay Area Transportation Commission.

This group, authorized by the state legislature, will study the whole range of Bay Area transportation problems — including highways, bridges and rapid transit.

Governor Brown has appointed seven members. Various agencies, including the Army engineers and the Golden Gate Bridge Authority, are represented.

Feyge also has been appointed to the San Mateo City-County Sewage Study Committee. Members will work with the engineering firm of Wilsey, Ham and Blair, which will undertake a $18,000 study of the county's needs.

D.C. Priest Is Elevated

The Rev. Richard W. Power, pastor of Our Lady of Mercy Church in Daly City, has been elevated to the rank of domestic prelate with the title of Right Rev. Monsignor in the Catholic hierarchy, Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken announced last week.

Designated a papal chamberlain with the title Very Rev. Monsignor was the Rev. Father F. Maher, principal of Serra High School.

K. of C. Cage Meet Planned

The fifth annual Marian Council of Knights of Columbus Basketball Tourney will be held Friday evening in the War Memorial Community Center in Daly City.

This year's tourney is the first to be played at night. Preliminaries will begin at 7:10 p.m.

CEREMONY PLANNED

Coast Jaycees Obtain Charter

Pacifica's first Junior Chamber of Commerce was granted a charter over the weekend at a district convention in Oroville.

The new Pacifica club has twenty-nine members, four more than the minimum needed.

Official charter night ceremonies will be held sometime in April and the Jaycees are hoping to obtain a "big name" as keynote speaker.

Officers elected last week are: president, William Feeney, Equitable Life; first vice president, Stan Farber, Farber's Pharmacy; second vice president, Fred Stone, Cuyler Chevrolet; secretary, Wally Fassler, Standard Oil; treasurer, Bob Wetch, Beneficial Finance; and state activities director, Roy Lewis, Avis Rent-a-Car.

The first activity planned by the club is a seat-belt clinic March 14-15 in the Eureka Square parking lot. Jaycee members will install seat belts for the cost of materials only.

Farber said the group also is planning a clean-the-beaches campaign for later this spring. The Jaycees will turn out to clean the beaches themselves and also try to find a way to keep them maintained regularly.

Requirements for membership specify that Jaycees be between the ages of 21 and 35 and live or work in Pacifica.

Farber said the primary purpose of the new Pacifica Jaycee unit will be to "promote Pacifica." Generally, the aims of the Junior Chambers are to encourage leadership potential and to provide community service.

The Pacifica group will sponsor an annual award to to the city's "most outstanding" young man and one to the Jaycee "sparkplug" who is most influential in getting things done.

The Pacifica Junior Chamber meets Wednesday evenings in the Oddstad Realty Office at 150 Eureka Square.

Among charter members are: Mel Davis, City of Pacifica; Dr. Niles Porter, dentist; Frank Macias, Bank of America; Don Willard, Williams Realty; Howard Courtney, New York Life Insurance; Mike Mills, Mutual Fund Association; Charles Munn, U. S. Public Health Department and Wally Sharp, U.S. Navy inspector.

there will be no ifs, ands, buts or sorrys," he said. "The people will be dead and what will you say then. Look what happened when that dam (Baldwin Hills) broke in Los Angeles."

Chapman said the dam break in Baldwin Hills, according to what he had read, was caused by a sub-soil condition. The reservoir in Daly City is made out of solid rock, he pointed out.

The council is scheduled to take action on the rezoning matter at its next meeting March 9.

In a related action Monday night, the council approved the final map of Komsthoeft Park, an area adjacent to property up for rezoning.

Another apartment rezoning that evoked a number of protests was a request from Gus Pedemonte concerning property at the end of Vendome Street.

Neighbors charged that their property had been damaged in grading operations currently under way.

The award will be presented by Ernie Lewis, national vice president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The keynote speaker for the evening will be Tony Longhetti, president of the California Junior Chamber of Commerce.

mittee had pledged to support him and he hoped to throw those votes to Simmons.

To questions about reports that Brewer had one indorsement of the committee, Harrison would only say: "No comment."

All committee members have been pledged to secrecy, Harrison said, and any rumors or speculations would be completely without foundation.

Harrison said there would be no announcement from the committee for at least six to eight weeks.

The appointment to the postmaster's job will be made by President Johnson on the recommendation of Senator Clair Engle who, in turn, is expected to follow the recommendation of the San Mateo County Democratic Committee.

Incubator Is Pledged

The donation of an $800 nursery incubator for the new Mary's Help Hospital was pledged this week by members of Alpha Alpha Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, a Pacifica women's group.

Eugene Hoffman, hospital public relations director, Monday accepted from the group the first payment of $100 toward the gift.

President of the chapter is Mrs. Mary Frost. The treasurer is Loretta Nash. The group has voted to adopt the fund raising as a special project for the next three years.

Pacifica's Very Own Beatles

BEATLE CRAZE HITS CITY HALL—It ain't termites what's infested Pacifica City Hall. 'Hits the Beatle Invasion from Merry Old England. Three members of the city council (now known as Chief Beatle and his Assistant Beatles) are, left to right, Councilman Fred Ballew and George Mason and Mayor Harold Feyge, who in a spirit of good fun, agreed to pose for Photographer Howard Frankhouse in beatlewigs provided by King Norman, local toy shop, at last week's council study session. As you can see, however, the trio, rather than "yeah, yeah, yeahing" their way through city business, continued to pour over official papers in their newest headpiece adornments. (Post-Times photo)

Veteran Bay Area Newsman Dies at 63

Harold Turnblad, 63, assistant managing editor of the Oakland Tribune and former editor of The San Mateo Times, died Saturday night at his Oakland home. He had been ill for several weeks with a brain tumor.

A meticulous and courageous newsman, Turnblad scooped the world when the famed Will Rogers crashed off Point Barrow, Alaska, on a flight with Wiley Post in 1935.

Turnblad, then working for the Associated Press in Seattle, kept a careful check of the flight, recording all takeoffs and landings.

When a gap suddenly appeared, he quickly determined the crash area.

Swiftly, Turnblad contacted a missionary in the area, who had taken a roll of photographs showing the inverted airplane in the water.

He bought the roll, still undeveloped, for $1,500. The clear photographs were sent out over the infant Associated Press photo network.

Four years later, Turnblad was named San Francisco bureau chief of the Associated Press. He held this key West Coast position until he came to The Times. He served as Times editor in 1957, 1958 and 1959, and then joined the staff of the Oakland Tribune as assistant managing editor.

He was a member of Sigma Delta Chi, the national journalism fraternity, and of the San Francisco Press Club.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ellen Turnblad of 7032 Sayre Drive, Oakland; a son, John, with Radio Free Europe in Germany; a daughter, Mrs. Joan Kurtz of San Rafael, and six grandchildren.

Private cremation services were held Monday in Oakland. Memorial services will be held Sunday afternoon at Trinity Lutheran Church in Burlingame.

The Questions Need Answers

WE HEARTILY concur in the Daly City Council's decision asking the Planning Commission to review its approval of zoning for an 800-unit apartment development near Westmoor High School.

While the Planning Commission's original recommendation of approval applied only to the rezoning of the 21-acre parcel from commercial to R-3 or apartment status, it could be construed as an endorsement of the apartment project.

After the matter had been returned to the planners, the developers wisely withdrew their tentative map in order to study a list of six conditional requirements laid down by the council.

Before again returning the application to the Planning Commission, the developers have been told by the council to consider: additional parking, alleyways, traffic control, aesthetics, number and sizes of the apartments and variable setbacks.

Additionally, the question of lot size has arisen. In the original annexation agreement made with the Callans, lot sizes were to be restricted to the 33-front-foot minimum. This applies, according to the proponents of the apartments, only to single family residences and not to multiple dwellings.

BUT THERE were far too many questions left unanswered to warrant granting the zoning for the apartments at the present time.

Planning mistakes live on in monumental testimony to a city's lack of foresight.

In this instance, not only the city of Daly City but both local school districts should rightfully be concerned with the proposed project.

When this piece of property was originally annexed, the master plan called for a shopping center there. This commercial development would have produced high tax revenue, yet created relatively few demands for providing costly municipal services.

Now, with an 800-unit apartment complex, city and school districts face the burden of providing additional services without the benefit of revenues produced by commercially zoned property.

In asking for the developers to stipulate the number of one, two and three-bedroom units, the council is probing a key point: these apartments could place an unanticipated increase of an estimated 200 school children into the elementary district, and eventually a portion of this number into the high school system.

OF THE SIX requirements laid down by the city council, perhaps the most important is the stipulation that the apartments meet certain aesthetic needs.

Westmoor High School, located next to the 21-acre undeveloped site, is considered one of the finest examples of secondary school architecture in the Bay Area—if not the state. Situated at the picturesque hilltop site, Westmoor is a North Peninsula landmark.

If there are to be apartments nearby, the compatability of the structures with the existing hillside terrain and the adjoining Westmoor High School must be considered in the design and construction of the buildings.

It will be to the ultimate benefit of the developer to give careful consideration to the council's recommendations before resubmitting his application.

Along with the businessman's right to the best use of his property, the city and schools have a vital interest in this issue.

HERE'S WHAT a youngster in Vista Grande School playground sees when he's playing on one of the giant rings. The view is of Lake Merced in the background and Daly City in the foreground. Vista Grande is Spanish for "large" or "big view." This is another in a series of views that can be seen from different parts of Daly City. The series commemorates Daly City's incorporation 53 years ago. (Post-Times Photo)

Warm Words for An Appointment

Ron Bates

LT. DAVE HANSEN'S appointment to the FBI National Academy two weeks ago prompted some warm words from both Daly City Police Chief Roland Petrocchi and members of the City Council who officially authorized Hansen to go.

Mayor Micheal DeBernardi started things off when he said: "You know, I feel like the father who has seen his kid go into a real tough game and come out a hero."

He had to be referring to the council-employee relationship. DeBernardi is 38 and Hansen 37.

Al Polonsky heaped further praise on Hansen, who by this time was blushing from his receding hairline on down:

"I've seen Dave in action and can really attest to his ability. I tried to defend a man (Polonsky is a lawyer) who had been captured by him. I lost the case, naturally."

But Councilman Eddie Dennis capped the whole event off with his remarks. To earn the appointment, Hansen had to pass a very tough physical test as well as a mental test.

Dennis, now president of the Milk Drivers Union in San Francisco, said:

"Thirty years ago I was the Hansen family's milkman. It shows what can happen to you when you drink good milk."

HANSEN'S HONOR is indeed unique. Only 60 officers throughout the world are chosen each year to attend the three-month school in Washington, D. C. Hansen will be taught the most up-to-date techniques and methods of crime investigation. The intensive program includes classes during the day and long hours of study at night.

One of the things Hansen and his fellow students will be taught in the course will be how to organize and conduct police training schools in their own departments.

Before accepting the appointment, Hansen signed a contract not to leave the Daly City Police Department of his own free will for at least three years.

This bit of information prompted a remark from Bob St. Clair who said:

"That's funny, I thought it was only professional football players who got three-year contracts."

ST. CLAIR, by the way, came to the special council meeting last week when Bud Lycett was named as his replacement.

Before the meeting, he was chatting with some residents in the hallway. Anthony Aiello, president of the Hillside Homeowners Improvement Club, asked him how he liked the weather down in Millbrae.

Like a good politician, St. Clair evaded a direct answer by saying his mynah bird loves it. "We couldn't get him to talk when we were here. Now we can't shut him up."

DIRECTORS OF the North San Mateo County Sanitation District were to take a helicopter ride yesterday afternoon for a look at the operation of their $350,000 submarine outfall line from above.

According to Bob Bernicchi, manager-engineer of the district, it seems that using a helicopter to check on the outfall line's effectiveness is cheaper than going out by boat.

If the directors went out by boat, they would have to drive down to Half Moon Bay and sail up to Thornton Beach and collect samples of water near the line.

Bernicchi said the boat would cost $100 for the day and tie up at least two men—to say nothing of his or the directors' time.

The helicopter costs around $70, picks the directors up at Westlake Park to take them to the site and enables them to complete the job in about 20 minutes.

Ain't technology grand?

The Council Goes Beatles

Don Miller

THE BEATLES may not have made it to California (some say they would have been turned back at the agricultural checkpoint stations), but you wouldn't have known it if you'd been around Pacifica last week.

To the astonishment of some and the delight of others, three of the city fathers donned Beatle wigs during a study session one evening and according to one observer, it looked as though barbers had been banned in Pacifica.

Highest ranking Beatle of the trio was none other than Mayor Harold Feyge, a good sport right down the line, Post Photographer Howard Frankhouse gleefully commented later.

Frankhouse had approached the council with an armful of Beatle wigs (fumigated and de-beetled, we're told) and broached the idea of a gag shot.

The city fathers, Frankhouse says, embraced the idea with such enthusiasm ("they thought it was wild") that he thought he detected a Beatles album concealed among official papers the councilmen were emeshed in.

ALTHOUGH there wasn't one around, we wouldn't be surprised if the councilmen were the recipients of a gift album or two in the coming weeks from just about any spot in the state.

That's because the photo of Pacifica's very own Beatles was picked up by the Associated Press.

In addition to Feyge, the other councilmen who became mop heads were Fred Ballew and George Mason. Councilman Harlan Minshew declined to go along with this bug business because his store hadn't received a supply of Beatles wigs and he wasn't about to don a hairpiece provided by a competitor.

Councilwoman Jean Fassler also declined—but only because she'd just had her hair done (not in Beatles fashion) and she didn't cotton to the idea of mussing it up.

However, she told Frankhouse she'd be delighted to become a temporary Beatle at a time when her hair wasn't in a showcase state.

All of which only backs up a thesis we've long subscribed to that says a woman's coiffure, once in place, is absolutely sacrosanct and NOTHING, not even an invasion of Beatles, will alter that state of affairs.

WHILE WE'RE Beatle-ing along here, we thought you'd like to know what a promotion man thinks of the Beatles who are, after all, the very essence of advertising and promotion.

He's Earl Pearson, West Coast sales promotion manager of J. C. Penney Stores and he discussed advertising at a meeting of the Westlake Shopping Center Merchants Association not long ago in the Sai Wu Restaurant.

The Beatles, Pearson propounded, were "promoted" to their lofty position in the entertainment (??) world by a shrewd band of press agents and advertising men.

"To me," he said, "the entire debut of the Beatles in America was promotion in its purest form . . . the flood of news releases prior to their coming . . . the well-staged scene at the New York Airport."

"They have a gimmick—their appearance, with the mop-hair, the velvet collared, tight-fitting suit and high heel boots. They identify themselves with the teen-agers . . . appeal to them directly.

"To me, this was promotion advertising—to sell one thing, records."

PEARSON, by the way, gave a talk that was chock full of funny stories—all included to illustrate his contention that shopping center advertising is a must for center merchants.

He recalled the time he was writing advertising copy for a Penney store that ran a large ad every Sunday, designed to bring in a flood of customers on Monday morning.

"One of these ads had as a feature, women's brassieres. Picture, if you will, a picture of a full-busted young lady at the top of the newspaper page, modeling the brassiere on sale.

"Unfortunately, above this lady was our regular weekly ad heading in large, bold print, that said, 'Monday Morning Door Busters.'

"Needless to say, we received many gleeful phone calls from merchants in town—commenting upon our sexy advertising."

AFTER THE Beatles and brassieres, we'll shift now to smoking and a brave general order issued the other day by Major Charles L. Starr, commander of Pacifica Cadet Squadron 102 of the Civil Air Patrol.

The major, after reading the finding of the Surgeon General's tobacco research team, observed that cadet members are between the ages of 13 and 18—"the age range most vulnerable to advertising and most likely to start the habit of smoking."

He thereby issued an order that decreed:

"All cadets, male and female, of the Pacifica Cadet Squadron 102 are strictly forbidden the use of tobacco in any form—especially the smoking of cigarettes—while attending any and all civil air patrol activities."

And that, cadets is, an order!

Money Just Isn't Funny

George Whitesell

AT THIS TIME of the year thousands of Peninsulans are looking gloomily at state and federal income tax returns forms, and it is no real comfort to know that the job of filling out these forms might be worse.

Filling out all sorts of forms and questionnaires has come to be one of the unlovely facets of modern life.

Most of us answer all the questions reluctantly, but as sincerely and truthfully as we can.

But there are a few audacious or cheerful souls among us who have no hesitation about being flip with the facts on most questionnaires and forms on the ground that it is unlikely that anyone will ever read the answers anyway.

They have their fun, and often someone else gets the last laugh, but the most waggish approach the income tax forms with a sudden soberness because they have cash consequences.

Very few people consider the subject of money to be funny.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue and the State Franchise Tax Board, in particular, are totally lacking in any sense of humor and any attempt to "kid" them is apt to result in fiscal disaster.

The tax collectors, too, take a very dim view of the old belief that "ignorance is bliss." They have an awkward phrase of their own which says "ignorance of the law is no excuse."

BUT, TO RETURN to the subject of what can possibly be worse than filling out a tax return—we have just heard of another government form that makes the toughest tax forms a breeze by comparison.

Indeed, the Bureau of Internal Revenue will have to take a back seat and bow to the Federal Power Commission.

The competition in Washington in the art of devising voluminous questionnaires is very tough, but the FPC has come through with a real blockbuster.

After this one the only height to be reached is the lofty ideal of an utterly unanswerable questionnaire. We have no doubt that some government agency is working hard to reach this goal.

THE FPC needs detailed cost information from the producers it regulates so it can establish just prices.

But a questionnaire of 428 pages, 24 by 14 inches—to be filled out in quadruplicate?

This little bundle of joy weighs 10 pounds per copy and will cost more postage going back because the ink used on the answers will probably weigh a pound.

One recipient of this questionnaire estimates answering it will require 17,000 accountant man hours at a salary cost of $85,000.

You could hardly blame the gas producers who have received this friendly little missive from being overcome by it.

It might well lead them to stick their corporate heads in the oven and turn on their product full blast.

Luckily, however, if anyone can afford 17,000 accountant man hours for filling out a form it is probably the gas industry — it's been a cold winter and the meters have been ticking over like mad.

And though we may ultimately find the cost of filling out this form tacked onto our gas bills, at least we do not have to fill it out ourselves.

FROM WHAT a number of Peninsulans have told us, they find that they can part with the money due on income taxes more easily than they can sit down to a prolonged bout with the tax forms.

That is why so many of them gladly pay a fee to an expert to have their returns put in order.

In the long run, they say, this is better than losing their tempers, kicking the cat, shrieking at a wife, or approaching a nervous breakdown.

You may have noticed that most of the TV commercials at this season of the year are for headache remedies.

The Marquee

He's Living The Dream

Barbara Bladen

MAKE BELIEVE is a story with many different beginnings and endings and is often more believable than the truth. Success of the Hollywood variety, comes in many forms and real life drama sometimes makes a better story than fiction.

Stathis Giallelis (pronounced Yallelis went through the acting motions of a movie script for Elia Kazan's "America America." When he was trying for the role, his life took the same turns as did the character he was playing and the parallel was like being type cast in a pattern from which life allowed no escape.

The 23-year-old, dark haired Greek from Kalamata, a small town on the Peloponnesus coast, was taken by his father and four other members of the family to Athens to recoup the family savings after the German Army occupation in 1944. Being the eldest in the family, following his father's death, he supported sisters and brothers. But he was drawn to the theatre and at the age of 16 studied acting, worked odd jobs and was assistant director for a Greek film company.

The famous American director Elia Kazan, had returned to his native land to cast his picture that was the story of a Greek boy whose family sent him with all their hopes, dreams and possessions to get a start in another land, away from civil wars, oppression and fear. The film concludes when the eager young man, full of ambition and strong with dedication to his new country and his family responsibility, begins a new life. It's a humble and courageous drama.

THE DRIVES behind actor and character were the same but the methods of achievement were different. Stathis didn't know English. He had read for the director in Greece, together with hundreds of other anxious youths, with a scene from "Look Homeward Angel." He didn't know anything about the film, only that he wanted desperately to get a role and work with the famous director.

"I borrowed money, knowing that I had only one chance in a million and came to New York." He spoke in slow, well phrased sentences, pausing for a gracious and somewhat apprehensive smile during a gourmet luncheon at Omar Khayyam's restaurant in San Francisco. George Mardikian, the renowned restaurateur and philanthropist, interrupted occasionally to say something in Greek, obviously to put the boy at ease.

The Book Shelf

THE DEVIL'S PROFESSION. By Russell O'Neil. Simon & Schuster. $5.95.

IN THEIR anxious struggles to get their names up in Broadway lights, actors and actresses often have to sacrifice their personal lives — sometimes willingly, sometimes not. These sacrifices are the major theme of O'Neil's novel about the theater.

Most of the action is keyed to the efforts of producer Irving Straus—making one last effort for a comeback—to bring a play out of the summer theater wilderness into Broadway.

His guest star for the summer version is Miriam Croydon, and Straus persuades her that with a revised script the play can reach the big time.

Miriam's personal problem is that for years she has been estranged from her husband, and for religious reasons cannot get a divorce. She is very successful on the stage, but would rather have a home and children.

THE SECOND lead is played by a beautiful young actress, Liz Goodyear. She and her fiance, an ambitious young director named David Roth, enter into marriage with the hope that their professional careers will not endanger their private lives, but the odds seem to be against them.

One young actor, Buck Tone, leaves the Straus roster for an off-Broadway show and is determined to fight his way to stardom in the theater or the movies at any cost.

He is a handsome, self-centered heel who gets into a sordid episode with a major theatrical agent, and has no qualms about deserting the girl he has seduced.

THE WORLD of play-casting, agents, Broadway restaurants, after-theater parties, the long battle to whip the play into shape, the try-outs in New Haven and Philadelphia, are all woven into the narrative.

O'Neil uses a wide variety of show business characters and—for the uninitiated reader at least — catches the atmosphere of the profession realistically. His dialogue tends to be a bit wordy, and he may win no literary prizes but he spins an interesting yarn.

DON'T KNOCK THE CORNERS OFF. By Caroline Glyn. Coward-McCann, $3.95.

YOUNG MISS GLYN'S novel about an exceptional child is subtly simple, and unusual in more ways than one.

She relates the adventures of Antonia Rutherford, an English schoolgirl, from approximately her 10th to her 15th birthdays.

Mostly it is a story of the odd things that happen to Antonia among the young monsters of what we would call a public school, then among the rather bizarre pupils and teachers of a private school for girls, and finally back in a grammar school.

LIKE ALL sports writers, we detest cliches (excuse us while we disengage the tongue from our cheek) but never hesitate to use them when we can't think of a better way to say something like, what a small world it is

And it is, it seems, when one lives in Daly City by San Francisco, as the horse writers would say.

A couple of weeks ago we attended the annual Mission High School baseball alumni dinner, and were nearly astonished by three things.

One, the affair is now growing into a multi-sport reunion. We saw not only fat, bald-headed ex-baseball players, but also fat, bald-headed ex-football, soccer and basketball players, not to mention pudgy ex-track men and bulging, chlorine-tinged ex-swimmers.

Two, it is now apparently an all-school affair. There were alumni from former bitter Mission rivals such as old Commerce, Balboa, Poly, and even Sacred Heart.

Three, we were surprised to find seemingly half of our Daly City neighbors in attendance, which is where our cliche comes in.

We left Daly City, trekked all the way into downtown San Francisco, and felt as if we had never left home. Just listing a few names as they pop into mind, there were Gene Gaviglio, Lefty Bob Collins, Gene Francheschi, former Seal, lefty Loyd Dickey, Alex Petropulos, basketball player Al Vidal (whom we list mainly because he officiates many local basketball games), and former 49er, Mission football coach, (the last one to bring Mission a city title) and now assistant coach at San Francisco City College, Dutch Elston, whose son Butch is heir apparent to the great Bruce quarterback spot at Westmoor next year.

Although we didn't spot him, Ed Steinway, who once led San Francisco preps in hitting with something like a .500 plus batting average, is usually there.

ANOTHER Missionite nearly on hand but not able to make it because of pressing political commitments, we understand, was our old friend Joe Verducci, now running for county supervisor.

Also on hand was Roy Reitz Sr., father of Jefferson grad Roy Reitz Jr.

Junior, you may remember, was signed to a Giant contract last year by another Daly City man (small world?), Ed Montague, and will start his second pro season this year at Fresno in the California League.

Roy Sr., is also enthused about the diamond possibilities of another outfielding son, Rich, who now attends College of San Mateo.

BACK AFTER many years' absence from the Bay Area was major league catcher Gus Triandos, who, since his recent trade from Detroit to the Phillies, has decided to settle back in California after a long stay in Baltimore, for whom he played most of his big league career.

Gus, now working a local sporting goods counter, is as big and rugged as ever—and, surprisingly, still youthful looking.

We say surprisingly, because according to athletic standards Gus, not yet 34, is considered a middle-aged man, now, and we for some reason are always taken back when we see one of these middle-aged youths still retaining lineless faces and full heads of hair, and not doddering old men, as greedy front offices would have them believe.

Triandos was asked to say a few things about baseball, but graciously declined, saying that he didn't feel he wanted to bore anyone with his oratory, other than to say that he loved the game, and owed it everything.

He really seemed more thrilled to discover, upon moving into his new Bay Area home, that he was living next door to another ex-Missionite backstop and former Oakland Oak and minor league manager, Lilio former Oakland Oak and minor league manager, Lilio Marcucci.

As we say, it's a small world.

Cliche or not.

NEXT TIME some small-time congressman wants to make a name for himself by investigating the "monopolistic tendencies" of professional baseball, he would do well to first investigate the number of people The Game keeps employed, and then check the yearly profit statements of the major leagues—that is if you can call them profits.

Recently released 1963 statistics show that, over-all, the game of baseball LOST MONEY in 1963, despite drawing its third highest attendance in history (20.4 million).

Baseball spent $70 million to operate and got back only $68.5 million.

Eight of the 20 clubs lost money, and several of the "money making" clubs more nearly broke even.

If this is a monopoly, it's only because nobody else wants in. Who'd be crazy enough — except for Charley Finley — to want to work hard, take abuse and be investigated for the privilege of breaking even — if real lucky.

Baseball's a big business, yes, but it's a small profit; and above all, it's still a game.

Alvin's improving, though.

Last year he called Jose one of the greatest shortstops of all time, which must have made a few ghosts in the Hall of Fame flip once or twice.

Dark's got another excuse for Jose's miserable year in '63. Now he says Jose had a sore arm early in the season and could never untrack himself.

First time we ever heard of a sore arm preventing anybody from hitting over .234.

SHOULD Sonny Liston REALLY murder Cassius Clay in the ring (although if The Poet doesn't button his lip, it may happen outside the ring), who or what would they investigate?

Liston for murder, or Clay's management for greed: Liston's skill, or Clay's ineptitude?

Rams Clinch Tie for NPL Crown

Jefferson Loses Tilt And Willis

By RON BATES

The Westmoor Rams clinched at least a tie for the North Peninsula League championship Friday afternoon by downing crosstown rival Jefferson, 64-44.

The victory was Westmoor's seventh in eight outings.

In losing, the Indians not only dropped their fifth game in eight starts but lost their leading player as well.

Forward Steve Willis, a 1963 All-NPL selection, and scoring star for the Daly City crew, was lost for the remainder of the season when he broke a blood vessel in his leg early in the second quarter.

Tony Giamonna's Rams worked like a well-oiled machine with guard Mike Hanngan and forward Jim Mason at the controls.

Mason took care of the inside and the boards and Hannigan, from the outside position, set up scoring plays with sharply drilled passes.

The Rams jumped to a nearly 14-2 lead and the stunned Indians could not start clicking on the scoreboard until there was less than two minutes remaning in the quarter.

Mason and Hannigan went right back to work after the tip-off. Between the two of them, they widened the scoring gap to 27-11.

Meanwhile, Jefferson's high scoring guard, Gary Mendoza, collected four fouls and began to walk on eggs for the rest of the game, fouling out midway in the final stanza.

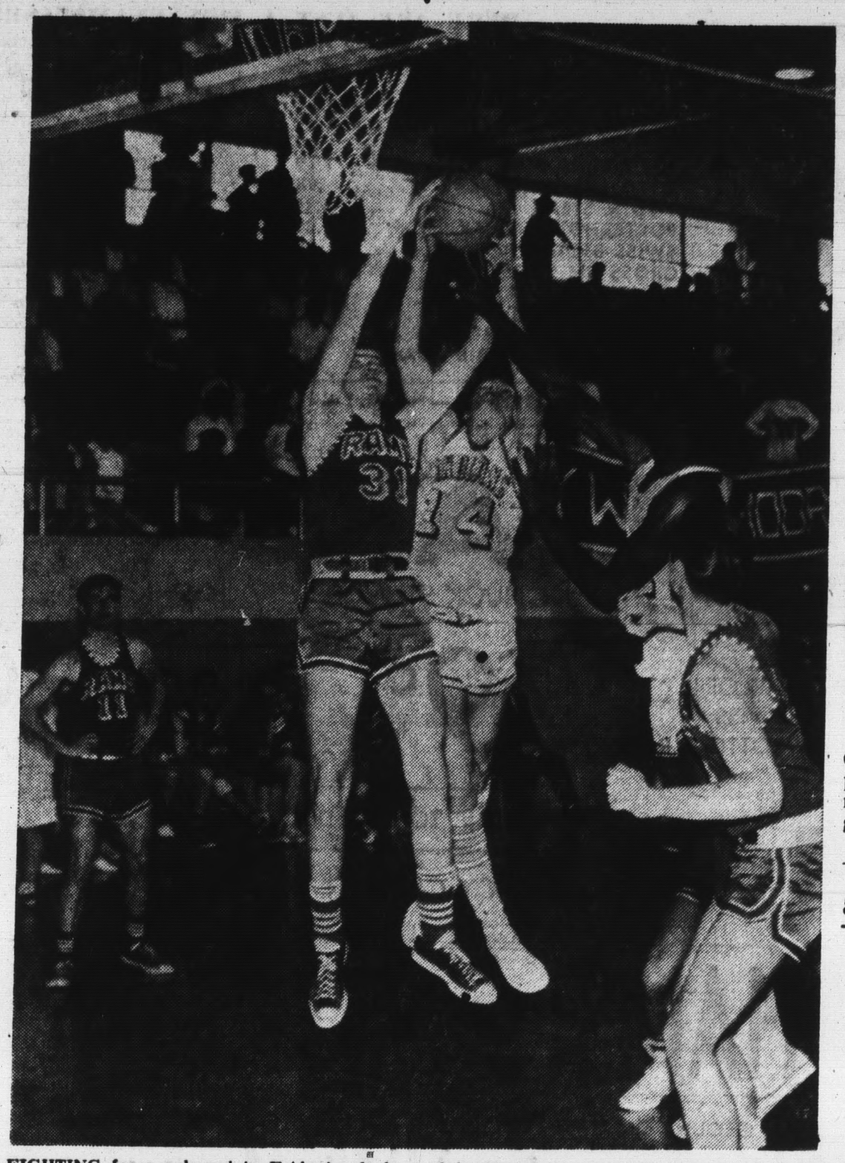
Although both teams took about the same number of shots the Rams' accuracy was much superior and they held a comfortable 31-17 bulge at the half.

The Ram onslaught continued in the third period as coach Giamonna began to experiment with the Westmoor repertoire of plays.

Mendoza and substitute guard Tom Houstin scored all of the Indians' 13 points in the third quarter, but it was no match for the Rams' 17-point output.

Giamonna said he was pleased with the all-round work of Hannigan and Mason and the defensive work of center Jerry Donovan, who made key blocks on several Jeff scoring attempts.

Mason led the scorers with 22 points. Jeff's Houston followed with 13 points.



FIGHTING for a rebound in Friday's clash between the Jefferson Indians and the Westmoor Rams are Bill Vince (31) Al Stoller (14) are Dennis Touhy (11) and Jim Mason, lower right. Westmoor, paced by Mason and guard Mike Hannigan rolled to a 64-44 win as Jefferson lost last year's All-NPL forward Steve Willis for the season.

A TOUGH ROOMIE

DENVER — Rooming with Eldon Danenhauer seems to be a road to retirement. Danenhauer is a tackle for the Denver Broncos in the American Football League.

His roommate at the start of the 1962 season was guard Ken Adamson, who retired after suffering a facial injury. Then came fullback Johnny Olszewski (Johnny O), who called it quits after the 1962 season.

Danenhauer began the 1963 season roaming with quarterback Frank Tripucka, who ended his AFL career after a couple of games.

Ferrari Has No-Hitter

A Daly City man pitched a no-hit, no-run game in the San Francisco AA Winter League Sunday.

Lou Ferrari of 1070 Skyline Drive, hurling for the ANG Vacuum team, struck out ten batters as his club downed the Portola Orioles, 3-0.

The victory boosted ANG Vacuum into first place. Ferrari had pitched five one-hitters this season. Sunday's strikeouts brought his total to 97 in 65 innings.

Warriors Take League Crown

The Warriors have clinched the championship of the Eighth Grade Basketball League, sponsored by the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department.

The champs last week downed the Lakers, 37-9.

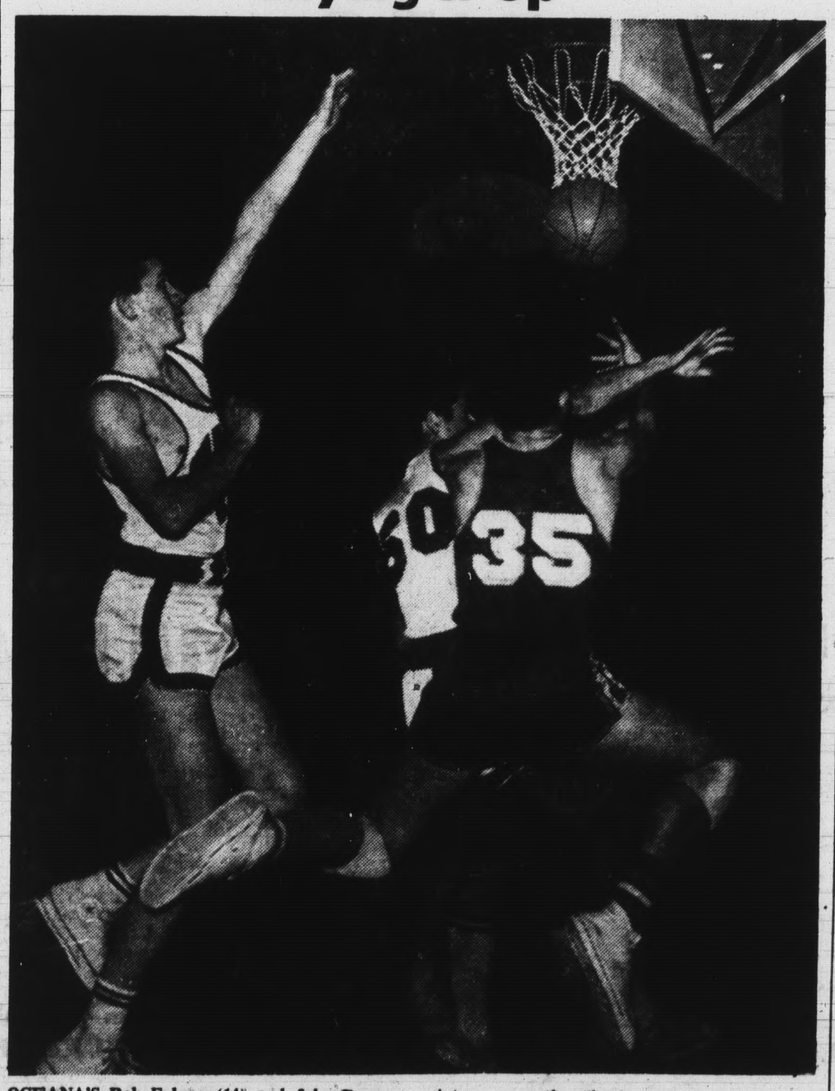
Laying It Up



OCEANA'S Bob Folger (14) and John Perry (50) try vainly to block a shot by El Camino's Phil Lyons (35). The Colts rolled to 53-44 victory over the Sharks and Lyons led his South San Francisco mates with a 17-point output. (Post-Times Photo)

TORRID 3RD QUARTER

Tigers Upset Colts, 45-37

Westmoor High School's basketball tea mmust feel nothing but brotherly love for its brethren at Terra Nova today.

Terra Nova, going nowhere in the North Peninsula League basketball race, eliminated Westmoor's chief contender for the NPL title with a shocking, 45-37 upset win over El Camino Friday night.

El Camino's loss gave the Colts a 5-3 league record, compared to Westmoor's league mark of 7-1, with only two games left to play.

El Camino was beset by both offense and defensive problems in the Coastside contest.

The Colts never could get their offense untracked, and in fact were limited to a miserly 13 points for the entire second half, and had precious little luck in stopping the offensive maneuvers of Terra Nova's Marty Coil and Steve Dagenais.

The Tigers took the victory with a stunning third quarter, in which they rebounded from a 24-19 halftime deficit into a 31-28 lead that was never relinquished.

The victory was Terra Nova's third in eight games.

58-57 THRILLER

Sharks Down S.S.F. Again

Joe Schroeder's South San Francisco High School Warrior varsity basketball troupe discovered that what may be good for one game may not serve its purpose for another as the Warriors failed to duplicate Valentine Day's thrilling last second victory and bowed to Richard Warne's inspired Oceana Sharks, 58-57, Friday night at South San Francisco.

The Warriors' margin of victory over the Jefferson Indians a week prior came on a one-second toss from Ron Benetti, and a similar act faced the hosts Friday night, this time with sophomore sensation Greg Jones handling the burden of nudging his mates out in front.

Like Benetti, who sent a deep throw arcing towards the bucket as the game-ending buzzer sounded against Jeff, Jones thrust a shot at the net while the clock was just concluding its eight-minute sweep.

However, Jones' toss careened off the rim and the Sharks tucked away their second win against the Warriors in as many outings.

Schroeder's charges jumped out in front to a 14-11 lead over the Coastsiders at the close of the first quarter but the Warriors faced their worst enemy this season, ball control, in the second quarter.

The Sharks capitalized on the Blue and Whites' miscues and swept to a 35-26 edge at the midway point.

The Warriors fought back in the opening minutes of the third quarter and cut the Sharks' lead to six points.

But Dave Breazeale, Larry Kinkade, and Bill Wipprecht sparked their Shark cohorts to a nine-point lead. The Sharks held a seven-point lead at the start of the final period.

Rotary Club Aids Hospital Drive

"If you want and need something badly enough, you'll go out and work for it."

And with that comment, Paul Hupf, president of the Daly City Rotary Club, last week presented a club check for $1,500 to the Mary's Help Hospital drive.

The club donated the $1,500 from its treasury. Members then worked as a team and solicited several thousand dollars more from Daly City business firms.

The fund drive is being conducted to raise $1.5-million. The money will be used to help equip the 250-bed hospital, now under construction at Junipero Serra Boulevard and Eastmoor Avenue in Daly City.

It will rise 10 floors. The building is 25 per cent complete.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

EVEN IN Lent, the cookie jar still cries for refills, doesn't it? It seems that keeping ahead of the cookie-eating kids is a year-round job, isn't it? Since I know from experience that the answer to both these questions is yes, I've rounded up two recipes that will solve this problem in a most delicious way.

Mrs. Blanche Long of 1586 Forty-seventh Avenue, San Francisco, gave me these two recipes and I know from happy experience they are a taste treat. The pecan dreams are a bar cookie and the pineapple crunchies are a wonderful drop cookie with a thimbleful of pineapple in the center.

PECAN DREAMS

½ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup confectioners sugar
1 cup sifted cake flour

Blend and work these ingredients together and spread in the bottom of a 9 by 13-inch baking pan. Pat the mixture into the bottom smoothly so you can more easily spread this topping over it.

2 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups brown sugar
1 cup coconut
1 cup pecans, chopped
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons flour

Blend the eggs and sugar. Sift the flour and baking powder together and stir into the eggs and sugar. Add the nuts and coconut and mix well. Pour over the top of the flour mixture and spread. Bake in 350-degree oven for approximately 30 to 40 minutes. Cut into bars while still warm.

THESE PINEAPPLE crunchies are so good you will want to ration them. (They are so good and the recipe does not make such a large amount—two good reasons for rationing.) About 28 is the amount that Blanche tells me she was able to make from this recipe. What they lack in quantity, however, they make up in quality.

PINEAPPLE CRUNCHIES

1 can crushed pineapple (No. 2 size)
1½ cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
Three-fourths cup butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
One and three-fourths cup corn flakes
½ cup finely chopped nuts

Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. (Do immediately, so the syrup will drain.)

Sift flour and baking soda together. Cream the butter or margarine and brown sugar. Add the sifted dry ingredients to the creamed mixture and stir in the vanilla plus one tablespoon pineapple syup. Stir in the corn flakes. Divide the mixture into fourths. You should get about seven balls out of each fourth.

Place the balls on baking sheet, indent with a thimble and fill the indentation with pineapple. Sprinkle the finely chopped walnuts over top. Bake in 350-degree oven about 20 minutes. Store uncovered.

SINCE THIS seems to be sweets day in Sugar 'n' Spice, I'll have to finish the column with a delicious cake that I received from my sister, Mrs. Sherrill Banks of Pleasure Ridge Park, Ky. She recommended it so highly that I had to make immediately. And it surely deserves its high praise. Sherrill tells me the recipe was given to her by a friend, Mrs. Bill Edwards.

SEED CAKE

1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
5 eggs
2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon caraway seed

Cream butter and sugar together, add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Sift the dry ingredients together and add to the creamed mixture. Stir in the vanilla and caraway seeds. Beat two minutes. Pour into a nine-inch tube pan that has been greased and floured. Bake in 350-degree oven for 45 minutes or test with straw for doneness.

Sherrill added that this cake improves with age. To which I must reply: "Har-de-har, who can keep it around long enough to age."

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

LIKE A RENOIR painting, gay with vivid splotches of color, smiling women beautifully attired and the sweetness of flowers, the banquet room of Westlake's Sai Wu restaurant was a scene of irrepressible spring time last Wednesday afternoon.

The occasion for the gathering was the YWCA Luncheon and Bridge party chairmanned by Mrs. Anne Johnson of Westlake and attended by 90 devotees of contract bridge.

The guests, all of whom took advantage of the glorious weather to display parts of their spring wardrobes, feasted on Chow Mein, rice and sweet-sour ribs, prawns and tea before settling down to enjoy an afternoon of party bridge.

Mrs. Johnson and her helpers managed to make the afternoon run smoothly and pleasantly even for those with very young children. A nursery was provided in the unused room of the Westlake library next door, and five very nice door prizes provided by The Westlake Hardware, Westlake Stationery, See's Candy and the Westlake Bowl, added to the fun for the party guests. Charming little flower pots containing ball point pens with artificial flowers affixed to the tops were donated by the Westlake Bowl and served to decorate the luncheon tables.

"EVERYTHING is prepared, now all anyone can do is wait." And so, the current status of the Court of Awards ceremony planned for the members of Girl Scout Troop 234 is a little uncertain, according to Mrs. Jack Griffiths, assistant leader of the troop.

Immediately upon completing their work on Christmas presents the members of the troop began preparing for the ceremony in which they would receive recognition for their scout work. Now, according to Mrs. Griffiths, all is in readiness but the leaders have as yet to receive the badges that are to be presented.

According to Mrs. Griffiths the girls have been very busy with the preparations for the evening. Kathy Procter and Diane Hagerman, Senior Scout Aides, have instructed the color guard in the intricacies of the Flag Ceremony which must be performed. Other girls have completed work on their cooking badges by holding cookie bakes at the homes of Mrs. Leticia Cecconi and Mrs. Janis Markey.

Troop officers include patrol leaders Ellen Saltzman, Kathleen Fullman, Donna Acquisti and Janet Feldman. Kathleen Noonan is troop scribe.

IT IS STILL not too late to browse through your closets, cupboards and basements to sort out the items which aren't going to be of any further use to you.

According to Mrs. Sue Sherrin, publicity chairman of the Holy Angels Women's Guild, Mrs. Julie Dal Porto is still receiving and picking up items for the guild's rummage sale to be held on March 5 in the Hall of Flowers in San Francisco.

Clothing, white elephants and small appliances of all types are still needed and if you have things you would like to donate Mrs. Sheerin urges you to phone PI 5-7604 as soon as possible.

Also, in Holy Angel's Parish, the work has begun on a Dinner-Dance to be held on April 11.

Mrs. Marian Fellman and Mrs. Joan Sharpen are the chairman and co-chairman of the affair and they have already begun making plans for the dance and selecting items to be included in the menu. According to Mrs. Sheerin this event is bound to be one of the highlights of the spring social season so be sure and mark your calendars now!

Unfortunately, there will be a split program and the boys and fathers will attend a sports program but the women and girls will be able to hear a very fine talk on the problems facing a growing number of young girls and the communities in which they live."

The meeting will be held in the auditorium of the high school beginning at 8 p.m.

Teenager Asks . . .

By JOE BAVARESCO

The mail commenting about my column on what I feel about the beastly Beatles has been so strong that I would like to acknowledge them.

First of all, the opinions are divided almost in half. I have been threatened with pickets, poison pen letters, etc.

But on the whole, most of the writers agree with me that the Beatles are a group of boys who have no talent but a great press agent.

It can be sumed up this way: the younger teen-agers like the hair hog callers but the older teen-agers don't care either way.

Most of the childish mail containing threats, etc., came from kids under 14 years of age. It was a lot of fun hearing how badly I judged the untalented sheep dogs.

As much as I am known as a crusader for teen-agers, here I must draw the line. I still have not been swayed into thinking that the Beatles are talented. I have been told that they write their own music. This does not show me anything.

What it does show me is that they are guilty of two crimes: not only singing things no one can understand but writing it too.

Dear Mr. Bavaresco:

I am 18 years old and really confused. I have graduated from high school and I don't know what kind of work I am cut out for or where to look for work or anything, I am really depressed.

The reason I'm writing to you is because I felt I must not be the only one in this boat. Please help me. Where do I go? What do I do? I have no desire or brains to go to college.

A Mixed Up Guy

Dear Mixed Up:

Obviously you do not know, and most kids do not know, that the California State Department of Employment in every city throughout the state has a section where they test people who are in your shoes. This service is free.

It is rated as one of the highest in the country. Some universities have this test and charge up to $75. However, it is free at local offices of the Department of Employment.

It is unfortunate that some people don't think they know what they want to do. Some people go through half their lives doing a job they hate. This vocational test is fantastic.

It will tell you things you didn't know about yourself. For example, if you think you do not have the brains for electronics, this test may tell you that you do.

Not only is the test a great help but the state supplies you with your own counselor who is trained and can guide you more than you will ever know.

Too many people waste their life away. They end up hopping from job to job. This test is designed to save you all this frustration, and wasted time.

Make every minute count, don't waste your time, especially when it comes to your career. You know we all have a little niche into which we fit—and sometimes it takes years to find it.

Today, with the testing system, we eliminate all that searching. This test doesn't show you how smart you are. It shows you what field you are strongest in.

So, if you are at all unhappy or mixed up about your job future, call your local office of the Department of Employment. Not only are department personnel extremely helpful but they are a group of very nice understanding people.

Top Ten

Here is a list of the top ten tunes teen-agers in the North County are listening to, according to reports from local record stores.

1. I Want to Hold Your Hand — Beatles
2. She Loves You — Beatles
3. Dawn — Four Seasons
4. Please Please Me — Beatles
5. Java — Al Hirt
6. Fun, Fun, Fun — Beach Boys
7. California Sun — Rivieras
8. The Shelter of Your Arms — Sammy Davis Jr.
9. Navy Blue — Diane Renay
10. Penetration — Pyramids

A Student Gift

In Memory of Kennedy

"Great Books of the Western World," 52 volumes containing numerous historical literary masterpieces, is "the best thing the school could have bought" in memory of John Kennedy, according to Westmoor High School Memorial Committee chairman Evelyn Goodell.

Representing the enlightenment and knowledge which the former President wanted instilled in the mind of every American, these books were purchased by the Westmoor High School Student Body to be a useful reminder of the cultural excellence which Kennedy promoted, she said.

In the picture above, Miss Goodell and Student Body President Larry Siegel present Assistant Principal Thanos Panagoulias with the Great Books Memorial.

Another memorial to President Kennedy can be found in the Westmoor High School library—a large painting of the late President. Senior Donna McDonald painted this reproduction of a cover photograph from a recent issue of "Life," by using pastellos—a combination of chalky and waxy crayon.

The completed portrait, which includes a plastic surface and frame, shows a close-up of President Kennedy in a pensive mood. It has been suggested that the painting be bought by the Westmoor High School Student Body, and remain permanently in the school as another memorial to John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

Student Speakers Honored

LION LYAL INGERSOLL of the Daly City-Colma Club, presents a certificate of appreciation to Jefferson High School senior Bob Dumont who will represent the club in the zone finals of the annual Student Speaker's contest in South San Francisco next Wednesday. Dumont won the honor at last week's Lion's club meeting at the Grace Presbyterian Church. Looking on, left to right, are the other student speakers, Westmoor's Jaquelin Swanson, Rinice Phillips, and Jefferson's Tony Sarasua. (Post-Times photo)

Westmoor Names Its Officers

Westmoor High School seniors of 1964 became the first class in the school's history to elect a girl to the office of senior class president. She is Linda Loftus.

Other senior class officers are Lynda Brown, vice president; Julie Clevenger, secretary and Ruth Richardson, treasurer.

She said she hopes to prove to the rest of the school that the class of '64 is "the best ever." She added that semester plans include working on Spirit Week, the Spaghetti Feed, the senior picnic, the winning of the perpetual spirit trophy, the senior ball and "most important, preparation for graduation."

Junior Class President Bill Waite will work on better spirit among his class. He hopes to initiate a system of class courts, which he feels would eliminate the necessity for detention halls.

Other junior class officers are Albert (Skip) Smith, vice president; Chris McCain, secretary; and Toni Vidal, treasurer. Smith served as both president and treasurer in his sophomore year.

Spring semester officers of the Sophomore class are Jeff Thomas, president; Sue Irby, vice president; Gail Kimball, treasurer and Linda Christman, secretary.

Thomas said after his election that he "only wants to see his class at the top." He envisions winning Spirit Week and the Perpetual Trophy. He served as president of his class since the second semester of his freshman year.

Rich Esposto, running unopposed, received the necessary two-thirds vote to be re-elected president of the Freshman class.

Other student leaders, holding office for the first time are Neil Blackfield, vice president and Karin Wine, treasurer.

Charlotte was re-elected secretary for her second consecutive term.

Pastor Hansen Sets Sermon

"When God's Word Makes Us Angry" is the title of the sermon topic of Pastor Kenneth Hansen at the 11 a.m. Worship Service Sunday at the Westlake Lutheran Church.

Continuing on the theme, "Secret of Radiant Life," today's Lenten meditation by Pastor Hansen will be entitled "Why Do I Feel Inferior." Following the 7:15 p.m. service, a discussion group will meet to talk about "How to Make a Prayer Pattern."

The youth of the church will meet Sunday for Bible study from the Book of Revelations.

Dedication of Organ Planned

A new organ in the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church honoring the memory of the late M. Pauline Brown, civic leader and educator, will be dedicated Sunday in a special program and recital at 7:30 p.m.

Following a brief ceremony of recognition, prayer and the handing over of the organ keys by a representative of the Board of Trustees, guest organist Thomas S. Hazleton, choir-director and organist of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church of Saratoga will present a concert of sacred and secular organ music designed to demonstrate the range and capabilities of the new organ.

Widely-known in Bay Area music circles, Hazleton has studied with Robert Forbes, Harold Mueller, and Richard Purvis. In addition to his church music work, Hazleton is staff organist of the Paramount Theatre in San Francisco, and the Stevens Music Company of San Jose.

The tremendous versatility of the organ will be shown by his program, encompassing music from Bach to Deems Taylor.

A campaign of more than nine months will culminate in the dedication ceremony. Commissioned by the Church's Board of Trustees in April, 1963, an Organ Fund Committee was established, and began receiving pledges and contributions in June. By September, the purchase was made, and December saw installation commence of the new organ.

Rod Barnes chairmanned the committee, with music director Delmar Severy as selection chairman, Charlotte Spruiell as secretary, and Lillian McLeod, Shirley Pappas, carlos and Kay Mattson, Ken and Bunny Gillespie, Dorothy Spratt, and Boris Stephen as representative committee mebers.

CSM Backers Heartened by Accreditation

Proponents of the $12,850,000 bond proposal for expansion of College of San Mateo and development of two new campuses have been heartened by the fact that the college has received the maximum five-year accreditation of the California Junior College Association's accrediting commission.

The report of the commission, which commends the district for "outstanding planning" in development of the College Heights campus, confers accreditation through June 30, 1969.

In a 14-page report the accreditation team offers its commendations and recommendations in 14 areas evaluated.

"The college seems to be meeting general education needs in an exceptional manner," the report states.

"There are abundant signs of creativity and a willingness to experiment that testify to the dedication of both teaching faculty and administration."

Some comments from the report:

"Community education programs demonstrate great scope and concern with community problems . . .

"The staff . . . reflects its high morale in the meticulous self-study, careful planning given to the new campus, the responsible use of academic freedom and the consistently good classroom instruction . . .

"Impressed with the insights, pride and strength of the board of trustees, both in regard to the local scene and on the broader state and national level . . .

"The president (Dr. Julio Bortolazzo) is to be commended for his vision, drive, enthusiasm and willingness to assume the total and full responsibility of the many facets of his position . . .

Although the library is both beautiful and functional, with an excellent periodical collection, the "book budget is too low" . . . and "general recognition of the inadequacy of the library collection."

"The total technical and vocational offerings at present are quite limited."

"Administrative staff and faculty leadership should conduct in-service training programs, conferences or workshops designed to orient academic teaching staff and counselors ot the rapidly changing technology in our nation and the varied occupational opportunities available in San Mateo County and in all of California . . ."

BETTER BUSINESS

Customer Not Always Right

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor, Better Business Bureau's "Barometer"

THE FACT should not be overlooked in these days of federal and state burgeoning bureaucracies that the customer is not always right!

A dry cleaner is liable for only normal care in the handling of garments brought to him for cleaning. According to the laws, rules and regulations governing the dry cleaning industry in the State of California:

"Cleaning" and "dry cleaning" means the process of cleaning or renovating wearing apparel, feathers furs, hats fabrics, or textiles by immersion and agitation, spraying, vaporizations, or immersion only, in a volatile, commercially moisture-free solvent, or by the use of a volatile or inflammable product applied either manually or by means of a mechanical appliance.

When the garment is a fur, fur garment, or a garment to which a fur is attached, "dry cleaning" also includes the use of sawdust or other similar solid materials mixed with non-inflammable solvents, applied with a mechanical device, or a fur-cleaning drum and glazing of fur and cleaning of lining. As used in this section, "spraying" does not include spraying during the process of spotting.

A person cannot establish or operate a clothes cleaning establishment without first obtaining a license to do so from the State Board of Dry Cleaners which consists of seven mebers appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate. Before a license can be issued, the applicant must file at the board's principal office, submit a written application accompanied by a fee for investigation and examination. He must prove a good moral character.

EVERY DAY the Better Business Bureau receives complaints from irate customers who firmly believe they are entitled to a full settlement from their cleaner for a garment worn two to three years!.

Very often the cleaning establishment gives the customer an adjustment, not because it is wrong, but because it wants to keep the customer's good will.

Contrary to popular belief, few dry cleaners are protected by insurance for damage to garments while in the cleaning process because of extremely high insurance.

Dacron, Orlon, and Dynol have been developed into high crease resistant and shape-holding fabrics that require little pressing.

However, many of the manmade miracle fibers and blends do require special handling and such garments often carry labels that identify the fabric and give instructions for cleaning or washing. Any such special instructions should be given to the dry cleaner.

Popular suede and leather-trimmed garments cannot be routinely dry cleaned. Real and artificial leather are cleaned by entirely different processes. The simulated leather today is so realistic looking it is often hard to tell which is the real leather and which is the simulated.

THE DRY CLEANER should be told before the garment is sent away that the resistant spot was coffee which requires one type of spot remover or ink which requires another type.

Many foreign fabrics have turned into total losses the first time cleaned. The National Institute of Drycleaning has on file a case of a customer bringing in a jacket of Indian design containing a label reading "Hand Woven by the Indians of Guatemala." When the jacket was cleaned the steam loosened the dye which caused the colors to run and destroyed the entire design. The Indians had applied the dye by hand and it had not been "set."

A continuous research is conducted on better cleaning processes of the many new fabrics that appear seasonally. However, the old complaints still head the list and cause the majority of the dry cleaner's headaches.

Glue and plastic items dissolve or stiffen in the cleaning process. Fancy buttons, belts that have cardboard stiffeners or glue of any kind should be removed.

Building Nears Completion

MAYOR Micheal DeBernardi of Daly City and Everett Terminello, executive vice president of the First National Bank of Daly City, look over blueprints of the nearly completed new bank building at 6600 Mission Street. The building will feature the first drive-in banking window in the city. A 22-car parking lot will be provided. The bank is operating at temporary quarters at 150 San Pedro Road. Construction is expected to be completed within a few weeks.

Exhibition On Cancer At Center

An American Cancer Society mobile trailer exhibit carrying vital information about the dread disease will be at the Westlake Shopping Center today and tomorrow as part of a county-wide tour.

The 25-foot trailer carries information on how families can protect themselves against first signs of cancer and demonstrates that the dread disease is being cured.

American Cancer Society volunteers will attend the exhibit, supplying visitors with information about cancer and its causes. There will be no solicitation of funds.

Co-chairman Herbert L. Seidelman of the ACS volunteers' education committee said it takes the average person about ten minutes to view the displays in the mobile unit.

The trailer uses dramatic flasher panels, scale models and photo transparencies. Life-size drawings originally done by Andreas Vesalius, a 16th Century Belgian physician credited with being the father of modern anatomy studies, are used to illustrate where cancer commonly occurs.

Theme of the exhibit is "Cancer Can Be Cured—Find Out How." The trailer was built for the California ACS and will go on a statewide tour soon.

BB SHOTS FIRED

Spring Fashion

STRETCH is news this year in fashion. In this ensemble, Mary Quant has taken double-knit swim suit fabric and given it a new twist. Bright Navy and white is splashed with ginger and a row of brass buttons. The gently swinging white-pleated viscose skirt completes the picture. Available at J. C. Penney's.

Stretch Is a Key Word

Mary Quant, fresh from her 1963 triumphs as England's "Woman of the Year" and a winner of the first London "Times" International design award, brings an exciting new look to her Chelsea Collection for Spring, this year.

J. C. Penney's in the Westlake Shopping Center now has line-for-line copies of the clothes available.

Miss Quant has always believed in combining color, fabric, and cut to tell what she calls "a total fashion story." Her new collection demonstrates this.

A Huge Step For Beauty

Pacifica beautification took a huge step forward recently during the city's annual tree seedling distribution program, sponsored by the Park, Beach and Recreation department.

On two distribution days there were 18,500 seedlings received by residents for planting on hillsides. This amount was more than three times the number of seedlings distributed in any other year.

Pacifica to Include Beaches in Improvements

Pacifica city councilmen appeared reluctant to submit a bond issue to the public to acquire additional beaches but announced they are including beach improvements in a capital improvements program now being prepared when they met with the city's Park, Beach and Recreation Commission last week.

Although recreation commissioners urged a bond issue for beach acquisition and improvement, Mayor Harold Feyge pointed out that the first and most critical need of the city is for a city-wide drainage program.

Such a program would have to be financed by a bond issue, he said, and the estimated $2 million cost of the program would bring the city up to the limit of its bonded indebtedness.

Feyge noted, however, City Manager Karl A. Baldwin has been instructed to prepare a program of needed capital improvements preliminary to coming budget studies.

He indicated that beach improvements will be given a high priority on the list even though the city cannot do all the work it would like.

The council agreed to set up a policy under which a system of inter-commission communication can be established.

Now each commission must send its recommendations directly to the council, which then refers them to another appropriate commission.

Park, Beach and Recreation commissioners asked for a more specific clarification of their duties and responsibilities.

Because the city may have to abandon the White Field baseball diamond in the Linda Mar area, the council authorized a staff study on how vacant land adjoining school sites can be utilized for future recreation areas.

The owner of White Field, the Pillar of Eire Church, has asked the city to pay all taxes on the property instead of half as previously.

In a brief adjourned meeting, the council agreed to ask the State Department of Finance for a new census estimate.

It is estimated that the city's population has increased some 3,000 persons during tthe past year, which would make the new population about 28,000.

The council met in closed personnel session to discuss changes that Planning Commissioner James Fox made public statements opposing two service stations on Linda Mar Boulevard at Adobe Drive before a public hearing was held and arguments presented.

Life in These Here United States Puzzles, Fascinates the French

PARIS—Unfenced yards . . . houses with curtains pulled back so passersby can look in . . . free matches . . . backyard barbecues . . . air-conditioned churches.

These are some of the many surprises of the United States to the increasing number of French tourists going across the Atlantic to take a look.

The U. S. Travel Service office in Paris reports that 18 per cent more French tourists, or 15,629, visited the United States during the first half of 1963 than during the same period of 1962.

Recently several recorded their impressions of how they viewed the United States, such as author Maurice Laurent, who wrote a popular book, "The Sea Is Beautiful" that informed the French "My voyage was astonishing."

Laurent was stunned to discover he could rent a car without showing many documents, and then leave it in any city. He discovered free matches and road maps, an air-conditioned Methodist Church in Tifton, Ga., and mink-trimmed pencils.

"Niceness flows. (he noted) the gentleness of individuals in a country noted for feverishness . . . Americans love money, and an American not only says so, he proclaims it . . ."

Laurent advised his readers that the most important word to know in the United States is "aie" or "haille." ("hi"), which he described as "the universal salutation applied to all individuals, sexes, ages, status." Also, he said, it is wise for the foreigner to steel himself when someone says "hi"—for he will likely receive a friendly whack on the back.

The American greeting ritual includes an exchange of addresses, a confession of how much money you make and a round of drinks, he said.

Laurent liked American superhighways but was puzzled because "at an intersection, even if the other driver has the right of way, he amiably lets you pass . . . Americans lack that aggression that to us is so cherished."

He also noted sadly that the American pedestrian is not fair game as in Paris, but "sacred."

Coming from a country where drivers do as they wish, Laurent was amazed to be stopped by police for (1) turning left from a right hand lane, and (2) speeding.

He had some complaints: Americans waste electricity on animated neon signs. And "America is provincial . . . we vote in France and the Chicago and New Orleans newspapers devote two lines to it. But they take four columns to detail a reception offered by Mrs. Smith on the occasion of her taking over the Dallas Post Office."

As with all tourists, the natives proved the most fascinating to Laurent.

"It is necessary to destroy legends about Americans," he wrote. "Americans are not only British exiles embarked on the Mayflower. They are no more the immigrants of Poland or Denmark."

"They are all of that, with the discipline of Germans, the glibness of Italians, the courage of Norwegians, the stubborness of the Irish . . . The people are so different and yet so similar.

"The American type doesn't exist yet, but one can recognize the average American. He is relaxed. Except in big cities, the tempo of life is slow. One waits in line, but without haste or nervousness. Curious!"

As French think first, or at least second, of eating. Laurent decided American restaurants use the word "food" instead of "cooking" because in the United States "the ultimate goal is to feed oneself," not enjoy the cuisine. He reported Americans combine sweet and salty dishes. "Ignore sausages and cheeses" and concentrated on steaks, sandwiches, eggs, potatoes, chicken and various "pastes of chicken, fish or meat, all fried in oil."

He concluded foreign tourists should go to a cafeteria or charcoal-broil steak house. He was amused by "French dressing" and "French fried onions," neither of which exists in France, but noted he ate better pizzas in Los Angeles than in Italy.

Another recent tourist, schoolteacher Germaine Goulard, said in an interview that "contrary to what one thinks, one eats well in the United States—if you leave the sauces and colored condiments to one side."

Mrs. Goulard toured the United States with her son and his wife, who now live in Lafayette, Ind. Some of her impressions:

"Santa Barbara: Many aged persons and expensive antique shops. Barbecue cuisine. Americans love picnics and outdoor life. Maids make $3.20 an hour and come to work in sumptuous automobiles. A rodeo just like the Westerns on French television.

"Los Angeles: Every home is air-conditioned, with swimming pools. Santa Monica has a magnificent white temple on a hill. Los Angeles resembles a big hamlet. Streets without end, oil derricks. All California is like Mexico or Spain. One rarely meets a person who speaks French."

"San Francisco: The most beautiful city in America, a city of elegance, beauty of site and serenity of people who live there. A city one never forgets. A hotel manager gave me a carnation. Stores are numerous and spacious. Beautiful houses, Stanford University is like a monastery with great columns.

"Grand Canyon: Takes your breath away. Indian souvenirs are curious and interesting. I saw cowboys with big hats.

"Chicago: Contrary to legend, Chicago is a beautiful and interesting city. The slum quarter is being razed. Much commercial activity. The Loop cuts the view but the natives like it.

"Lafayette, Ind.: Houses have no fences. Many drive-in restaurants and banks. The normal American home has a refrigerator and freezer.

"New York: Like a fairyland at night. Porters want 25 cents for carrying a bag. The lobby of a New York hotel is like a railway station, everyone coming and going. Enormous buildings with thousands of windows, a stream of people. The Bowery quarter is lamentable.

"One can eat at any hour of the day or night, and well. Beef is good. Cola, fruit juice, beer and milk are the American drinks. Even department stores have uniformed doormen and women wear flowered hats. Many funeral parlor signs. Ambulance sirens tear the air. It was incredible that nobody spoke French at my hotel."

Contractor Daniel Feau, another recent French tourist to the United States, raved in an interview about American motels, highways, office buildings and the large number of golf courses and swimming pools.

He liked Boston, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Detroit, Niagara Falls and Washington. The latter is a beautiful city because, he proudly added, "it was built by a Frenchman."

Charming Parade of Gingerbread Animals Will Enliven the Scene at Easter

This Easter, a charming parade of gingerbread animals enlivens the scene. Bunnies, ducks and chicks make their way across the table as a centerpiece, joined in the march by their stuffed-toy counterparts. Or you may use the edible critters to provide Easter basket fillers, Easter gifts for neighborhood children, or just to fill your own cookie tray. And, should you think the cookies are for kids only, just set tooth to one!

The construction of forms from gingerbread is an ancient and most pleasant practice.

The early Egyptians, Romans and Germanic tribes baked ginger bread for feasts. However, early monasteries excelled at the art, and certain monks won fame for their creative touch with gingerbread.

Pleased Queen

Later, Queen Elizabeth I ordered it baked in shapes for feasts, and these were so popular that she hired a baker whose sole job was to bake the gingerbread forms.

Gingerbread eggs and animals are fun to make, and the whole family can join in the project. The dough takes patiently to inexperienced handling, too, so even the smallest tot can join the fun with no possible inadvertent sabotage.

Thanks to the presence of unsulphured molasses, the cookies keep fresh for weeks, so these Easter treats can be made well ahead of time and stored in a covered container. The unsulphured molasses, as its name implies, contains no sulphur, and provides your cookies with the most wonderful mellow flavor possible.

And while you are baking, try a batch of Daffodillies for the family too. They are marvelously crisp, have a crinkly top, and taste delicious with milk and coffee. This year, make your own Easter parade of delightful gingerbread animals.

GINGERBREAD ANIMALS

½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
½ cup unsulphured molasses
1 egg, separated
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon ginger
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg

Cream together shortening, sugar, and molasses. Add egg yolk; mix well. (Reserve egg white for frosting.) Sift together flour, salt, baking soda, baking powder, and spices. Stir in flour mixture; mix well. Chill. Roll out dough ¼-inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Cut with egg-shaped and animal cookie cutters — rounds for stands if desired — and place on ungreased baking sheets. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 8 to 10 minutes. Cool. Decorate with Ornamental Frosting. Yield: Approximately 50 cookies.

To make stands for centerpiece animals, cut out a round for each animal. Bake as indicated. To attack, put small amount of frosting in center of round cookie, and press base of animal into the frosting.

ORNAMENTAL FROSTING

Sift together 1¼ cups sifted confectioners' sugar and teaspoon cream of tartar. Add reserved egg white and ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Beat with rotary or electric beater until frosting holds its shape. Cover with damp cloth until ready to use.

DAFFODILLIES

¾ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
½ cup unsulphured molasses
1 egg
2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground cloves

Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add molasses and egg; mix well. Sift in remaining ingredients; mix thoroughly. Place in freezer 1 hour, or chill in refrigerator 2 hours. Form into approximately 1-inch balls; roll in granulated sugar. Bake on greased baking sheets in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes. Yield: Approximately 4 dozen cookies.

Arrange half of the precooked French fries in bottom of a 1½-quart casserole. Pour half of the frankfurter mixture over French fries. epeat layers. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes. 4 to 6 servings.

Cherry Sauce Will Add to Pork Chops

Cherry sauce provides the liquid necessary for braising pork chops. This moist heat cooking is recommended for chops that are juicy and tender at serving time.

CHERRY PORK CHOPS

6 pork rib or loin chops, cut ¾ to 1 inch thick
1 tablespoon lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 can (16 ounces) tar red cherries
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ cup brown sugar

Brown chops in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Drain cherries, reserving juice. Add enough water to cherry juice to make 1 cup of liquid. Combine cornstarch and brown sugar in saucepan. Add cherry juice. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Add cherries to sauce. Pour over pork chops. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes or until done. 6 servings.

Caravan Inn Offers the Ultimate in Food and Fun

BETTY SEDAM

BETTY SEDAM, General Manager of the Mountain View Caravan Inn, is back from the southland after inking "Fabyan and Danny" to a Caravan Inn entertainment contract for the early-evening cocktail hours (5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.) Monday through Friday. The show gets under way on Monday evening, Feb. 24.

The MacDonalds, Patti and Mac, have become Peninsula favorites with their Monday through Saturday evening dance tunes and vocals.

Whether your dining choice is a la carte or a full course dinner, you're in for a cuisine treat. Needless to say, the home made desserts match the luscious food to a calorie. If you find yourself calling for coconut pie seconds, you're with me.

Now is the time to plan that special banquet or party in one of the many beautifully appointed Caravan Inn rooms. The outdoor patio, along side the heated swimming pool, is a perfect setting for any fun occasion — from fashion show to beauty contest. No cover or minimum charge; plenty of free parking space.

BUDDY GRECO, the singing, swinging vocalist who is a big hit the country over, will take over the featured spot in the Fairmont Hotel Venetian Room Thursday, February 27. Comic Jackie Mason concludes his successful engagement on Wednesday, February 26 . . . The flavorful Armenian dishes as served at George Mardikian's Omar Khayyam's restaurant well rate the praise words — "World Famous" . . . Among the many regulars at Nick Gust's Pacifica restaurant: Joe DiMaggio and Lefty O'Doul. Nick's is the sports headquarters on the coast for the outdoor set . . . A real yummy treat: Fresh strawberry pancakes at Uncle John's Pancake Houses . . . Alma Carrere calls the restaurant "signals" at East Fifth Avenue Valdoro and does a right nice job, too. Food here is delish; ditto, the cocktails . . .

Buddy Greco

ED SULLIVAN, General Manager of the Burlingame Hyatt House, spotted a postal truck on Bayshore Freeway that had a sign on one side advocating the use of ZIP codes, while the other side, a sign still recommending the use of zone numbers . . . Juan Jose, Finocchio's Spanish dancing star, was paid a special compliment by members of the Dancing Masters' Association of the Pacific Coast. Some 20 of them attended the current Finocchio's musical revue in a group, being attracted there by Juan Jose's far-ranging reputation. They presented him with a record album of Spanish dance classics bearing all 20 of their signatures . . . Villa Chartier, a restaurant landmark on the Peninsula for 39 years, grows more popular each day. With a seating capacity of more than 700 people, Villa Chartier is able to provide quick service—even with big crowds at luncheon and dinner. The Villa Chartier is also well known for its private meeting rooms with seating for small groups of 10 up to 200 . . .

Get the Habit Save 'Toy Bucks'

Fosters Original Pancake and Chicken House is giving away bucks by the bucket full since the new policy of one toy "buck" free for every real "buck" spent.

In "eatin' words," bring the family in for breakfast, luncheon, or dinner. When paying the check you receive a "toy buck" which, when saved, is redeemable for one of the many children's toys on display at the restaurant.

This is a great lay-away plan for birthday and Christmas gifts for the young ones. New gift selections are displayed each week with the amount of toy bucks required for purchase.

A wide selection of pancakes, sandwiches, and, for the dinner trade, complete turkey, beef pot roast dinners, and, of course, the traditional Farm Fried Chicken Dinner. Special dinner for kiddies under 12, $1.25.

Remember, you are also entitled to "toy bucks" on all take out orders. Free parking.

"Buck" Buchignani, an executive of the Safeway Stores, recently 'osted a dinner party for friends at Phil Lehr's Steakery.

Lew Lehr, the Marina steakman in San Fran, claims about the only place not giving trading stamps nowadays is the marriage license bureau.

Bertolucci's handsome ravioli fame dates back to 1928—and Mama Bertolucci prepares them now just as she did then.

Vince Licata 'Strikes It Rich'

Vince Licata, his wife, Nina, and friends enjoyed a holiday at the Nugget Casino in Sparks, Nevada, last weekend. Because Vince enjoys eating seafood as well as selling it, he ordered a dozen raw oysters at the Nugget Oyster Bar. During the feast, Mr. Licata found a pearl in one of the oysters.

"How do you like that!" said Vince. "I've opened and eaten oysters at my restaurants for years, but had to come to Reno to find my first pearl."

Nina agreed. All Vince has to do now is "find" about 60 more to match this one and Nina will have a strand. No doubt, Ted Steiner, the Third Avenue jeweler, will be called in "to settle the case."

Don't skip the soup at Nick Finocchio's New Tivoli North Beach restaurant. The chef is a master at blending ingredients to taste perfection.

Fan Mail Praise for Raul Martinez

Fan letter to the management of the Sinaloa and signed "The Girls from the Telephone Company" reads: "Singer Raul Martinez has a far more handsome smile than Andy Williams. He's better looking than Perry Como, bigger dimple than Cary Grant, more sex appeal than Yves Montand, and his voice we love. Vive Granada!"

There's not much to add, except Raul's a swell guy off stage as well as on.

Barney's Casino Growing Fast

Barney's Casino is growing fast. Now comes information from the Lake Tahoe (South Shore) Casino that Greyhound Bus service will go into effect from the Monterey sector on Friday, February 28, and from Fresno, Madera and Turlock on Tuesday, March 3. You may ride Greyhound from any of these points direct to Barney's Casino in Lake Tahoe with a subsatntial refund given upon arrival.

Ron Giannotti, aggressive, young restaurant owner of the swank, new Surf House, is planning to include a Sunday morning brunch to his busy schedule. Ramos fizzes, of course, will be a beverage attraction.

Taddy's Steak House (formerly McDowell's) is now open — Duane Eckert, Al Facchini, and Dan Tateosian, at the helm. The completely remodeled Taddy's is serving luncheon Monday through Saturday; dinner, seven nights a week. Steak is the specialty. Entertainment features Lloyd Fox at the organbar on Friday and Saturday nights. Banquet facilities up to 75 persons.

For that vacation right here in your own "backyard," spend a day, weekend, or whatever time you have, at the Princeton Inn over El Granada way.

Frank Dennison, general manager of the Sheraton-Villa Motor Inn, comes up with some dandy names — the 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. "Island Orgy" featuring Billy Tavake's music being no exception. Which also includes sounds and dances of the islands originating in the Bloody Mary cocktail lounge.

Moar's Menu Schedule March 1

Big news from Moar's Cafeteria: On Sunday, March 1, a new daily full course entree schedule goes into effect. Sunday through the following Monday of each week there will be two different entree selections for the complete dinner customers. Of course, this is in addition to the regular cafeteria menu and the daily serving of the Farm Fried Chicken.

Dinners will be priced in a "bring the family" bracket ($1.69 and $1.79). If you can stock the home table for less, then you're on a diet, for sure. Children under 12, $1. Take out orders are also a Moar's Cafeteria specialty.

Wide Choice At Keith's

Keith's Chicken and Steak House in Burlingame features a Friday night Fish Fry. You don't have to settle for fish, however. Chicken, spaghetti, ravioli, steak and pot roast are also available. By all means, order Keith Williamson's home made pie — and a la mode.

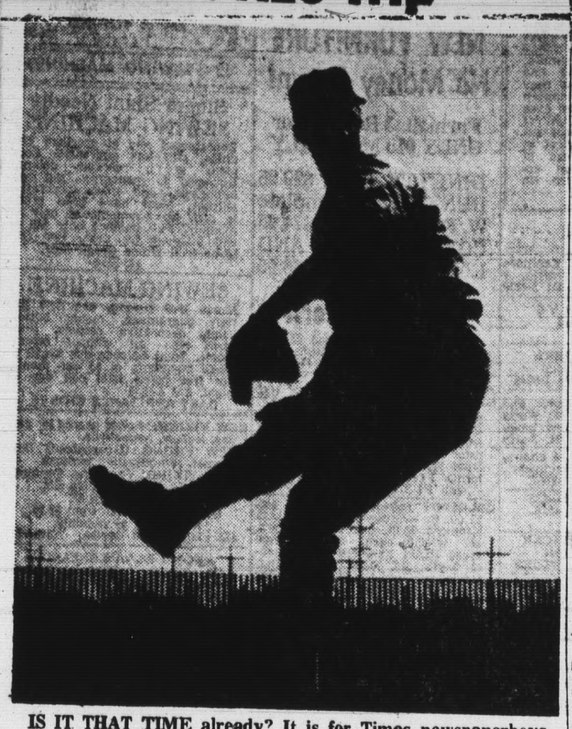
A Prize Trip



IS IT THAT TIME already? It is for Times newspaperboys who are competing in a contest to determine who will take an all-expense-paid three-day trip to the Giants' training camp in Phoenix, this spring.

Newspaperboys Compete For Giants' Camp Visit

Times newspaperboys will have the opportunity to visit the Giants' spring training camp in Phoenix, Ariz., in early April.

As part of a new-subscription contest announced by Circulation manager Frank Hoffmann, all Times newsboys will have the chance to compete for this trip, on which four lucky lads will go.

The trip, scheduled for the first week in April, will be three days during which the boys and an adult guide will follow the Giants on their exhibition games around Phoenix, spend time at their training camp site, and meet the 1962 pennant winners.

The runners-up in the contest won't be forgotten either. On tap for the "close-but-not-quite" boys will be a dinner with the Giants, an autographed baseball, or a free trip to Candlestick Park to watch the team play Cincinnati.

This trip is one of many that Times newspaperboys may compete for during the year. Other trips are taken to Santa Cruz, Disneyland, Frontier Village, San Francisco, Candlestick Park, and Kezar Stadium.

Singing Group Needs Members

An old-time singing club in San Francisco with several Daly City members issued a call for help from former members and new members. The Men of Note, an all-male choral group that has been in existence for almost 15 years, meets every Monday night from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the A. P. Giannini Junior High School at Thirty-eighth and Ortega Streets.

The club is having membership problems. Persons interested need not have experience. More information may be obtained by calling DO 2-1212, Extension 22435 or LO 4-2367 after 6 p.m.
